

My Dear Friends and Colleagues:

It is our pleasure to bring you the winter 2007 issue of the Journal of Sustainable Development in Africa (JSDA). As always, this issue of JSDA contains articles which are bound to spark development discussions in classrooms, research centers, boardrooms, conferences and seminars. We are very excited about the positive impacts that the articles that appear in JSDA have been able to offer its readership across all continents of the world. It is the centrality of Africa in global affairs which propels the editorial board of JSDA to concentrate on events in Africa and this will remain our focus for many years to come. Please continue to send us your comments. Thank you for your continued support.

Valentine U. James, Ph.D.; CES; CAQS

Editor-in-Chief